

A REBEL GIRL'S POSTSCRIPTS.—A letter from a rebel girl, in Nashville to her brother in the U. S. army, has been published. After giving in a delightfully liquorous account of the marriage of several furiously rebellious ladies with Federal officers, the young lady adds four postscripts devoted to a certain Federal Captain, to have been "boarding with me merely for protection." Here are the postscripts:

P. S. 1.—Do you think it would be a violation of my Southern principles to take an occasional ride, for my health, with the Captain? He has such a nice horse and buggy. You could come, too, no possible harm in that.

P. S. 2.—That very impudent fellow actually seized my hands as he helped me out of the

Tom, as I don't like to live here any P. S. 3. I don't ever I should marry a a nurse (that you know my principles too well I think) I would do it merely as an humble interested sacrifice to the wrongs of my poor oppressed countrymen, and I would be content to day or night, like dream, should be of Holo-rners, and my dry goods 'ball as long as the eternal revenue law. P. S. 4. — Come home, sister Tom, and take the amuse, each for six months, or thereabouts, I want to tell you secret. On due consideration I have come to determine to make a martyr of myself.
 Yes, brother Tom, I am going to marry the captain on patriotic principles.
